TATTERSALL'S GOLDEN SLIPPER CALCUTTA EVENING

already a major event on the Golden Slipper racing calendar, Tattersall's will bring together leading racing identities at its Black Tie Calcutta Evening on Tuesday 23 March. This year Nick Moraitis, owner of Might and Power, will be bringing his Melbourne and Caulfield Cups with him as special guest. And Channel 9 race commentator Ken Callandar will be speaking with Nick about Australian horse racing and the great racing dream - being the millionaire owner of the horse that has dominated the Group 1 Racing scene over the last few years.

Leading Auctioneer Peter Baldwyn will also be there to expertly run the Golden Slipper Calcutta Auction which is expected to exceed last year's prize pool of nearly $10,000. And officially pricing the field, leading Bookmaker Colin Tidy will be on hand to advise fledgling punters.

A quick rundown on how the Calcutta works:

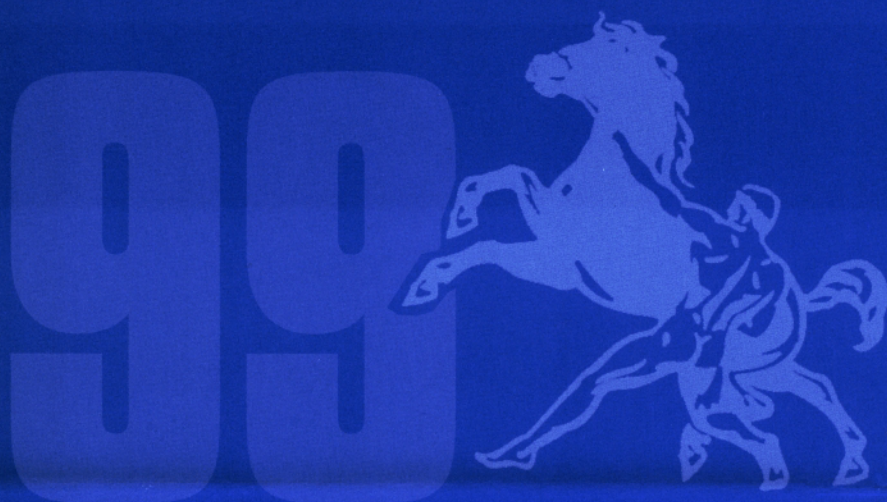

- Each table is allocated a horse which will be running in the Golden Slipper by raffle.
- Following dinner, all horses are auctioned.
- Half of the "selling price" is given to the owner of the horse and the other half is pooled. If you buy the horse that you own, then you only need to contribute the pooled (i.e. half the "selling price") component.
- The final amount raised through the pool determines the eventual prize money and is dispersed to the owners of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd placed horses in the Golden Slipper.

For the non-punters, a wide range of entertainment will also feature and an exceptional Three Course Menu has been specially coordinated to celebrate the gala evening.

moving towards 2000

Over the last 140 years Tattersall's has built up a culture that has placed it as a leader in the Executive Club community. 1999 represents a key year where Members will continue to see changes and additions that will improve and extend the Club services.

The Club Committee intends to continue to position Tattersall's as a leader and are confident that the improvements planned for '99 are in line with Member's demands and represent a significant move forward for the Year 2000.

The standing of Tattersall's is reflected in the '99 Club Programme which has attracted a range of high profile speakers including Police Commissioner Ryan and Chief Justice of the High Court His Honour Justice Murray Gleeson. And the newly introduced Breakfast Briefings will also see corporate leaders, such as Merrill Lynch CEO Greg Bundy, giving the latest edge business advice. On the sports scene lunches have been extended to include cricket alongside the traditional rugby and racing.

Major events will range from Black Tie Boxing and Boutique Beer Tasting nights to Classical Music Events showcasing Australia's premier orchestras. While a selection of Guest Chefs from Australia's leading restaurants will be serving fine-dining menus during their week in-residence.

The Club marked the end of 1998 by listing a profit and we expect the trend towards new memberships to continue through 1999. People have been actively demanding more extensive services and we are responding to this with more planned renovations this year.

The past year's addition of accommodation, better quality of food and an upgraded Athletic Department pointed the direction that the Club Committee feels is necessary. Our plan is to move the snooker room to level three. There we intend on expanding the room available by creating an international competition level snooker facility where the current committee room exists and the current snooker room will become a cafe/bistro facility. The Members Bar will also be refurbished.

All design work is being driven by our view that we should make the Club relevant for today's members. We expect work to commence in April and be finished in September with minimum disruption to the Club. Detailed plans will soon be put up in the Club for inspection. On 25 March we will hold a meeting to seek members approval for the work.

We also believe a contemporary sporting Club in Sydney today has to cater for the changing city lifestyle. People need to feel they can come in and be able to work out or just relax poolside whenever an opportunity arises. Tattersall's is meeting this need with a professionally manned gym that is open 6am-9pm Monday to Friday, 6am-6pm Saturday and 12noon-6pm on Sundays. We only close over Easter and the Christmas/New Year period for maintenance.

We are considering putting images of all of these exceptional services and facilities that the Club offers on-line with a Tattersall's web site which would be available to a broad range of potential new Members. Current Members would be able to take immediate advantage of being electronically linked to club services no matter where they are in the world.

These changes all represent a major step for Tattersall's. They position the Club as a leader with facilities for the future and will extend the Club's culture throughout the community.

John Konrads puts Members through their strokes

Former Olympic Swimming Champion Murray Rose with Paul Collins and Peter Luck

open day

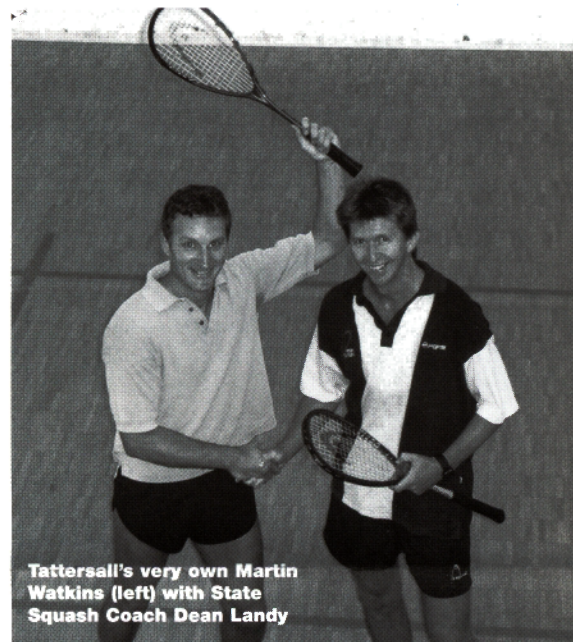

Want to improve your swim stroke but think it would take a legend to do it? Tattersall's has pulled in the significant skills of Olympic Gold medallist John Konrads to hold regular 'Swim Easy' 3-hour Clinics. Members got a sample of just how much John can fine-tune your swim style when he got in the Club pool on open day and drilled swimmers through their laps.

Cost of John Konrads Clinics: $80

Contact: Athletic Department

•While John Konrads got his feet wet, friend and fellow swimming legend Murray Rose stayed above water. Pictured with AD Manager Paul Collins and Channel Seven's Peter Luck, the 1956 Olympic triple Gold medallist was our special Club Guest and in Town to film a documentary leading up to the 2000 Olympic Games.

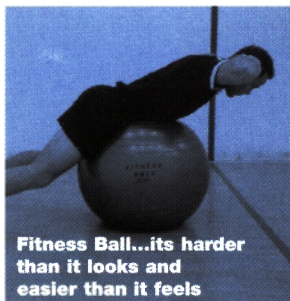

•Squash-playing Members also got to serve-up with one of the best when NSW State Squash Coach Dean Landy took to the Club courts on open day. A former Australian and International Player, Landy handed out advice that went some way to making playing squash seem a snack. Pictured here with Tattersall's Martin Watkins, the Club is pushing to see Landy back on court very soon.

The Australian Swimming team warms up with one. The Australian Cricket team never travels anywhere without it. And now it's in the Athletic Department - the fitness ball. Used for push-ups, sit-ups and balance, this giant ball helps stop back pain, tightens up muscles and improves strength and posture. Physios are now even recommending it as a replacement for your office chair. To test out the benefits of the ball book in for a 1 hour programme with AD Manager Paul Collins. Also collect your free copy of Paul's Collinthenics Medicine Ball Workout manual (RRP$20) on your next visit to the gym.

Fitness Ball...its harder than it looks and easier than it feels new super-circuit class

So you want to be pushed more. You want to go for the burn. Well, fitness specialist Paul Collins has devised a 'Super Circuit' class that's designed to melt fat and increase energy and cardiovascular capabilities to Matt Shirvington levels. Sit-ups, weights, stair-runs, you'll be taken through an hour-long series of aerobic and anaerobic activities. Oh, and it's fun too!

Time: Wednesdays 12.30pm to 10.30pm

march massage special

For those rightfully over the gym-energising experience, relax with a massage. Choose Swedish remedial, deep tissue or sports massage and find out why masseur John Orlanda is known as 'The Singing Fingers'.

Cost: $25 per half hour.

Swimming

club races

For anyone wanting an alternative outlet for competitive exec stress, Tattersall's is holding swim club races on Tuesdays and Thursday's at 1.15pm each week.

This year has already seen new Members sign up and an open 'just-turn-up' invite is being put to all Members.

Congratulations for the first round of races held on the 2nd and 4th of February go to:

Bill Debney, John McCosker, John Barker, Harry Turner, Bruce Fallshaw, Richard Heath.

Contact: Col Bowes, Swimming Convenor

water polo

Tattersall's Water Polo team is moving closer towards the Grand Final in its division of the Open Sydney Men's Water Polo competition. After putting in strong performances, Michael Gillis is this year's Water Polo nomination for the Sportsman of the Year. And George Vernados, last year's Sportsman of the Year nominee, has played as powerfully as ever; while Peter Kennedy has been a reliable and consistent force in the water each week.

Former convenor Adrian Bouris has been organising team members throughout the season. Although he's been unavailable for the last three games while travelling, Adrian will be back for the Grand Final, no doubt bringing his torrid team pep talks with him.

On their way to the Grand Final the team has only had one loss to Eastwood Rugby when they were a few players down, and one draw with Cronulla. With a tradition for winning being set by the 1998 men's Summer Competition Grand Final and by being runner's up in the winter competition, the team now looks on target to add this competition title to its streak.

Contact: Phil Madden, Water Polo Convenor for information about the Tattersall's team and about becoming a player.

bowling

Forget crowded local greens, the Bowling Club has planned an escape to the country Capital to hold the Turf Bowlers Carnival, March 14 to 18. With three greens on offer, Canberra City Bowling has been selected as the venue and accommodation will at the nearby Canberra Rex Hotel.

But it won't be all bowls, a side-event has also been planned with a day trip to Goulburn Racing Club's TAB Meeting on 16 March.

Cost: $110 per person

Bookings: Tim Anderson, Bowls Convenor, call 9953 3021

Snooker

If Europe and America's record levels are anything to hope by, the snow should bucket down this season at Thredbo. Bookings are now being taken for the Tattersall's Ski Week July 24 to 31. Contact: Simon Forsythe on 0419 389 359 for details on this week as well the Pre-season drinks and Awards Nights.

world's richest snooker tournament

With a 1998 prize pool of $61,000 going up for Calcutta Auction in May, it's a very good time to get involved in the Tattersall's snooker and billiards club.

The club has an extensive calendar of championship tournaments planned for the year kicking off with the Lightning Snooker Tournament. However, the showpiece is certainly the prize-rich Calcutta Snooker Tournament for which entries close on 8 April.

Members can also look forward to renovations of the Snooker and Billiards room which the Club plans to move to level three. To see plans and make your comments ask Joe Minici at the Club.

Meanwhile, the 1998 Handicap Billiards should be completed by mid-March. And the Cock O' the Walk Challenge Ladder will be closing off shortly. If you want to join in the play-off, make your challenges as soon as possible to finish in the top sixteen.

For those Members who could do with some cue coaching to get them to championship level, contact Joe Minici at the Club.

Chef Bill Marchetti takes Tattersall's to Tuscany

Bill Marchetti with Restaurant Manager
Renata Barthel

Bellissimo!

Celebrated chef Bill Marchetti transported his Tuscan-based talents to the Tattersall's dining room during February. Leaving behind his two Melbourne restaurants - Marchetti's Latin and Marchetti's Tuscan Grill - he brought with him the same fine-dining dishes that recently saw both his restaurants listed amongst Gourmet Traveller Magazine's leading establishments.

Marchetti has already firmly established his food and restaurants among Melbourne's power suit set. Sit down any lunchtime at the Tuscan Grill and you'll see business deals being closed over Marchetti's smoky coal grills and fine slices of carpaccio and salmon. At Tattersall's Marchetti tantalised and lured Members back with melting slithers of his renowned roast succulent pig with brandied cumquats. Then played with the sweeter side of palates serving-up elegant desserts such as raspberries with berry ice cream and double cream.

The first in our series of Guest Chef Weeks, the event is expanding the foodie reputation of Tattersall's Dining Room which is headed by Executive Chef Ian Jenkins, Food and Beverage Manager Tony Fonti and Restaurant Manager Renata Barthel.

New Autumn Menu

Fresh from assisting Marchetti, Club Executive Chef Ian Jenkins has been piecing together a New Autumn Menu. Drawing on prime Australian beef and the freshest Sydney seafood, the new menu will be available to Club diners from early March
